

Seedlings March Newsletter

We hope everyone enjoyed their personalized Valentine from your little one! We think they turned out pretty cute, with lots of smiles!

It seems, winter is back in full effect. Please continue to bring layers and extra clothes for your kiddo, as we want to make sure your child stays comfy and warm in these colder temps. Also, always feel free to go through your child's bin to see if the extra clothes still fit, as they seem to be growing out of things fast!

We feel as though sicknesses have been at bay here in the Seeds room lately, however if your child is showing symptoms of being sick please try to keep your child home in efforts to allow your child to recover faster and to help keep other children and staff healthy. Thank you for your understanding and help with this!

Thank you to everyone that has brought in a family photo! Our family board is really starting to look great! If you haven't done so yet, we would love to add your family picture to the board. These family boards are incorporated in every classroom throughout the center, are a great element from our Conscious Discipline regimen and helps to show the children that the relationship between home and school is an important one.

The Seedlings are growing so fast and really starting to show off some new skills lately!

Saylor continues to be a busy bee and is just everywhere, as always. She is doing lots of free standing and is extremely close to full on walking any day now.

Archer has started eating table/finger foods and is doing so great with it! He has been very excited to try some new, exciting foods and to feed himself!

Ellie is really starting to master her crawling and is moving all around the room!

Brynley has started scooting backwards and trying to figure out how to move around more. She has also started working on a few finger foods and is very excited to practice and feed herself.

Eleanor has started pulling up on anything that she can and now only really wants to stand. She is working hard on trying to figure out how to get down from the standing position in a graceful manner.

Quinn is doing a great job sitting independently and has been rolling all over the floor to try to figure out how he can move around more.

Clover is also now doing great at sitting independently and is loving her solids. She really loves to try to grab the spoon and feed herself.

Enzo really wants to move and has been using his strength to help him roll around all over the floor.

Chandler has become a much better eater. He is doing great with some assisted sitting as well building his strength on tummy time.

Theo is starting to roll over now and has some great core strength. He also loves to stand in the jumper and look in the mirror or out the window.

Great job everyone on all their new skills! With conferences coming up in April, this will be a great time to go over any questions and/or concerns you may have regarding your child. However, we are always available at pick or drop off to discuss any schedule changes, concerns, etc. as well.

Happy March!

Sincerely,

Ms. Jolene and Ms. Melanie
