

Seedlings May Newsletter

Spring has definitely arrived, and the Seeds have officially started going outside!! The new outside environment was a little bit of an adjustment for some at first, but now it seems as though the babies are really starting to love it! We will be trying to go out in the morning, as well as the afternoon-- depending on weather and children's schedules, etc. With the weather getting warmer and the sun starting to get a little stronger, please be sure to bring in sunscreen for your child (as long as they are over 6 months), a sun hat, a light jacket or hoodie, and shoes for those that are mobile. Having plenty of extra clothes on hand is encouraged as well, in case your little one gets wet from exploring the yard or needs to put on or shed a layer because of temperature changes.

The babies are growing so fast and are really starting to show off a lot more of their skills, and are getting more curious in our new outside environment!

Archer, the oldest in the room now, has been super happy and confident crawling everywhere. He has been pulling up on things and has been doing great slowly shifting over to a Big Seed schedule!

Ellie is super-fast with her crawling and has been practicing pushing walkers and furniture around. She is quite the busy bee and has been exploring everything!

Brynley, has become a pro at crawling now and has become quite fast! She has also been pulling herself up and has almost mastered the getting down part, with a few bumps here and there.

Eleanor, has been testing the limits with some free standing and has some quite amazing stability. She looks as though she wants to start taking a couple steps at any point soon!

Clover, has also figured out the whole crawling thing and wants to be in all the action with her other friends. She seems to be getting more adventurous out on the play yard and likes exploring in the grass and the dirt.

Quinn, has been getting around and exploring just fine with his cute army crawls. He is starting to get faster at it and has been getting up on his knees a little bit more to figure out how to really get the crawling motion down.

Enzo, has been loving crawling around and exploring the new outside environment and pulling himself up on some new toys out there. He is starting to practice with some finger foods, and seems to be interested in the different textures and tastes of them.

Chandler, has mastered his unassisted sitting and is looking strong and stable. He is super smiley and is loving all the new things to look at outside in the play yard.

Theo, is a happy chunky little guy who doesn't complain about much. He has become great at sitting on his own as well and has started some pureed foods at school that he just scarfs down.

Easton, has been doing great in his first month with the Seeds. He has been mostly sleeping during the day, but when he is awake, he likes to look around and give his teachers that dreamy little smile that is just adorable.

Just a reminder, please make sure that all food and milk is labeled with your child's name on it and the date, so as nothing gets mixed up. We do have several other people stepping into the classroom during the day for teacher breaks, so it makes it easier for them to be able to know whose food/milk belongs to who. Thank you!

Thank you again to all the parents that came in on Conference Day to meet with us. It is nice to have just a few minutes to sit and chat with you all when there aren't the everyday distractions of all the children in the classroom. Please let us know at any time however, if you ever have any questions or concerns for us!

Happy Spring!

Ms. Jolene, Ms. Melanie, and Ms. Tiina
