Dear Families,

Hello and Happy Summer Seedling Families. Our Seedlings have been so busy this past month! Everyone has made huge advances in their movements, eating, and in playing gently with friends. It is fun watching their friendships develop as they become more interested in their classmates.

We continue to go outside as weather allows when it is warm but not too hot! Our classroom can still be chilly at times so please keep sending your babies in layers, as it makes it easier to keep the babies at a comfortable temperature.

Bailey has become so active in the classroom, crawling, pulling up and even letting go while standing like a pro! She loves exploring outside and loves her finger foods, especially fruits!

Ben is our first walker of this group! He is so excited to be walking and makes sure his teachers know! He loves playing with the toy balls in the classroom, carrying them around and chasing them when they roll away from him.

Cannon is now sitting independently, and he has started inch worming to get to the toys he desires. He has started purees at school and loves eating food!

Fletcher has started pulling up using any object he can find! He is commando crawling like no one's business and has even started pushing up onto his hands and knees! Fletcher loves mealtimes and his finger foods.

Grey has also started to inchworm and roll to get to the toys he wants to play with. He loves looking at himself in the mirror. Grey is working hard on his finger foods and loves independently feeding himself!

Lillian is starting to sit up with support! She is so smiley and loves playing in her gym and looking at herself in the mirror! Lillian is so close to rolling over.

She will roll to her side and talk to herself in the mirror!

Millie has started pulling up and is working on figuring out how to get back down! She loves the red stairs outside. She uses them to pull herself up and then waves to her classmates and teachers. Inside she loves looking at books and exploring the classroom!

Nell has made so much progress in her movements! She is pushing up onto all fours, army crawling around the classroom, rolling to get to where she wants to go and reaching for desired items.

Poppy inchworms and uses the tips of her toes to reach the toys she wants! She loves playing at the cube and looking at herself in the mirror. She loves her purees and holding the spoon to feed herself!

Tate is so close to walking! He will pull himself up and stand without support. Tate gives the biggest smiles to teachers and classmates, and he loves playing with and near his friends. Tate loves his finger foods, especially fish sticks!

We welcomed Addison and her family to our class! She is the younger sister of Quinn who is a Bud. Welcome Addison and family to the Seedlings!

If anyone would like a copy of our Father's Day pictures, please let us know and Jo can text or email it to you.

Please continue to label your child's items (milks, clothes, packages of wipes and diapers). We really appreciate it so much! We also love the morning messages letting us know the latest information about your child. Thank you!!

It has been wonderful connecting and talking with families again at pickup!
